COMPENSATION CLAIM FOR PERMANENT IMPAIRMENT AND NON-ECONOMIC LOSS— FORM AND CHECKLIST

PRIVACY STATEMENT

Your privacy is important to us. We will only collect, use or disclose your personal information in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988. If Comcare does not collect personal information from you for the purposes of assessing your claim or related functions, we may not be able to determine your claim.

Comcare is the Commonwealth agency authorised by the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act) to collect personal information relevant to an injured worker's claim for the purposes of managing the compensation claim and for the management of the injured worker's rehabilitation and the discharge of other functions and use of other powers under the SRC Act. For those purposes, Comcare may need to collect from, use and disclose your personal information to the following parties:

- > your employer at the date of your injury, your current employer and any subsequent employer
- > your superannuation fund manager or trustee
- > any health professional, hospitals, other health institutions, or service providers related to your claim
- > your case manager
- > your rehabilitation provider
- > vocational and functional assessor
- > employment agencies
- > legal advisors and law enforcement authorities
- > personnel engaged by Comcare to conduct research related activities
- > the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission
- > Comcare fraud investigators
- > inspectors appointed under section 156 of the Work Health and Safety Act 2011
- > any relevant third party (or insurer) considered by Comcare to have contributed to the injury, illness or impairment
- > any other person assisting Comcare in the performance of its functions or exercise of its powers
- > any other entity where there is legal obligation to do so (for example, but not limited to, responding to the direction of a court to produce documentation)

We want to ensure personal information collected, used, stored or disclosed is accurate, up-to-date and complete. Comcare's Privacy Policy contains information on how you can request access to personal information held about you and how to seek correction of that information.

You may make a complaint to us if you consider that Comcare has interfered with your privacy or otherwise breached its obligations under the Privacy Act 1988. Our Privacy Policy contains more information about how to make a complaint and how we will respond.

Comcare is not likely to disclose personal information to a person who is not in Australia or an external Territory, unless the information relates to an incident, investigation, injury or illness sustained while overseas, or treatment provided by an overseas practitioner. If disclosure of personal information is made to an overseas recipient, Comcare will comply with obligations regarding disclosure to overseas entities (Australian Privacy Principle 8).

For further information about our information handling practices, for a copy of our Privacy Policy, to request an amendment of your personal information or to make a privacy complaint, please refer to www.comcare.gov.au/privacy, contact us on 1300 366 979 or email privacy@comcare.gov.au

This form must be completed by the employee and their treating doctor and submitted to Comcare for assessment.

PART C—NON-ECONOMIC LOSS QUESTIONNAIRE

You need to ensure all sections of the form are completed.

Please indicate the score you consider is appropriate and use the space provided to make comments that support your answers. We request that you provide comments to help your Impairment Assessment Officer assess your claim.

If there is not enough room on the form for your comment please attach a separate, signed statement.

If you have more than one accepted condition (injury) and are claiming for a permanent impairment or impairments resulting from each condition (injury), then you must complete a separate Non-economic loss questionnaire for each condition.

Section 1: Pain and suffering

This section has two parts:

- > The first part on pain concerns the frequency and intensity of physical pain that you suffer due to your condition.
- > The second part on suffering concerns the mental distress that you may experience including emotional symptoms such as grief, frustration, fear, anguish, humiliation and embarrassment.

Part 1: Pain

Please note that:

- > only ongoing pain of a continuing or episodic nature is considered
- > you cannot use the table below to indicate temporary pain or speculation of future pain.

Indicate in the table which one of the following best describes the pain you suffer from:

- > No pain experienced (score 0).
- > Intermittent attacks of pain of nuisance value only. Can be ignored when activity commences (score 1).
- > Intermittent attacks of pain. Not easily tolerated, but short-lived. The pain responds fairly readily to treatment such as analgesics and anti-inflammatory medications (score 2).
- > Episodes of pain more persistent. Not easily tolerated. Treatment, if available, is of limited benefit (score 3).
- > Pain occurring most of the time. Restrictions on activity. Resistant to treatment (score 4).
- > Pain continuous and severe. Preventing activity. Uncontrolled by medication (score 5).

Part 2: Suffering

Please note that:

- > only ongoing suffering of a continuing or episodic nature is considered
- > you cannot use the table below to indicate temporary suffering or speculation about future suffering.

Indicate in the table which one of the following best describes the suffering (mental distress) you experience:

- > No symptoms of mental distress experienced (score 0).
- > Symptoms of mental distress minimal or ill defined. Symptoms occur intermittently. No interference with activity (score 1).
- > Distinct symptoms of mental distress that are episodic in nature. Activities reduced during such episodes. Recovers quickly after episodes (score 2).
- > Symptoms of mental distress are distinct and varied. Episodes of mental distress occur regularly. Ability to cope or perform activity effectively reduced during episodes. Needs time to recover between episodes. Treatment such as anti-depressants, counselling and other supportive therapies help to control or relieve symptoms (score 3).
- > Symptoms of mental distress are wide ranging and tend to dominate thinking. Rarely free of symptoms of mental distress. Difficulty coping or performing activity. Treatment necessary to either control or relieve symptoms (score 4).
- > Symptoms of mental distress arising from accepted condition predominate over thinking. Activities severely restricted. Treatment of no real benefit in controlling or relieving symptoms (score 5).

Section 2: Loss of amenities

Loss of amenities can also be described as loss of enjoyment of life.

This section has three parts:

- > The first part on mobility concerns your ability to move around in your environment including your home and work. It includes walking, driving, being a passenger, and using public transport.
- > The second part on social relationships concerns your ability to engage in your social and personal relationships.
- > The third part on recreational and leisure activities concerns your ability to maintain your usual recreational and leisure pursuits.

Part 1: Mobility

Indicate in the table which one of the following best describes the effect your condition has on your ability to move around:

- > No or minimal restrictions on mobility (score 0).
- > Periodic effects on mobility—no restrictions in-between episodes (score 1).
- > Ongoing, mild restrictions on mobility (for example, walks at a slower pace or needs a walking stick) (score 1).
- > Mobility reduced, but remains independent of others both within and outside the home. Can travel but may need to have breaks or special seating (score 2).
- > Mobility markedly reduced. Needs some assistance from others. Unable to use most forms of transport (score 3).
- > Restricted to home and vicinity. Can only travel outside home with door-to-door transport and the assistance of others (score 4).
- > Severely restricted mobility (for example, restricted to bed, chair or room). Dependent on others for assistance. Mechanical devices or appliances used for mobility within the home (for example, wheelchair, hoist) (score 5).

Part 3: Recreational and leisure activities

Indicate in the table below which one of the following best describes the effect your condition has on your usual participation in recreational and leisure activities.

- > Able to follow usual recreational and leisure activities (score 0).
- > Intermittent interference with activities. Able to pursue usual activities in-between episodes (score 1).
- > Interference with activities reduces frequency of activity, but is able to continue. Is able to enjoy alternatives (score 2).
- > Unable to continue with pre-injury level of activity. Alternative, less-rewarding activity possible (score 3).
- > Range of pre-injury activities greatly reduced. Needs some assistance to participate in pre-injury recreational and leisure activities (score 4).
- > Unable to undertake any pre-injury recreation and leisure activities (score 5).
